Thank you for your interest in treatment with QuantumResponse® technology! We have summarized the most important information on this topic for you.

WHAT IS QUANTUMRESPONSE® TECHNOLOGY?

According to the ideas of well-known molecular biologists such as Rupert Sheldrake, Bruce Lipton and others, there is a so-called „blueprint“ of our body on an „information level“ that describes an optimal, completely healthy body structure. Our physical body constantly tries to adapt to this blueprint through countless regulatory processes. We at Bruce Copen Laboratories also assume that our organism does not only function on the basis of physicochemical laws.

Nowadays, people are exposed to multiple stresses, so that the organism has to make great efforts to maintain its regulatory capacity. In order for the body to be able to regulate itself, it is of immense importance to maintain or restore the detoxification capacity. The body's own detoxification capacity depends strongly on the respective environmental and living conditions.

The micronutrients contained in food affect body functions, as do chemicals and other toxins in food, such as drug residues, pesticides, and fertilizers, as well as electromagnetic waves and low frequencies (these include, for example, in addition to the public power grid, WLAN and cell phone radiation).

The environmental conditions target the molecular and even the genetic level, which means that the body's immune system can be weakened by the various influences. Depending on the personal constitution, a susceptibility to infections and allergies can develop, but also chronic diseases can be a result.

With the QuantumResponse® technology, we determine energetic correlations (= resonance reaction) of your body, mind and soul to certain parameters from different areas with a computer-assisted procedure. A total of over 60,000 stored information patterns are available for this purpose. These parameters provide information about energetic stresses, which in total can impair the physical and psychosocial regulatory capacity.

Treatment with QuantumResponse® technology belongs to the field of quantum or information medicine.

HOW DOES A TREATMENT USUALLY PROCEED?

A treatment with QuantumResponse® technology takes place in several steps.

Before treatment, a basic medical history is taken during an initial consultation. QuantumResponse® technology can already be used here. The integrated basic scan can provide indications of possible causes for energetic blockages and disturbances. This is usually followed by an initial basic balancing.

The second step is a detailed scan. It is completed in a few moments. In this phase, the organism is offered various energetic aids in rapid succession and its reaction is automatically tested. The decisive factors are the determination of the causes of blockages and disturbances as well as the balancing with the correct vibrations based on this. A resonance reaction (= correlation) of the organism occurs only when the help is needed. During the analysis the patient lies or sits relaxed and puts his hands on the hand applicators. Additionally, substances containing DNA can be included in the analysis.

Based on the results of the analysis scan, the identified disturbed areas can then be balanced and harmonized by means of further energetic impulses.

Depending on which energetic burdens were determined, the further therapy steps are then determined together with the patient.

HOW LONG DOES A TREATMENT TAKE?

A complete treatment with QuantumResponse® technology takes approximately 30 - 40 minutes.

HOW MANY TREATMENTS ARE NEEDED?

The number of treatments is always individually tailored to the patient. Sometimes even a single treatment leads to amazing results. Under certain circumstances, several treatments may also have to be performed at intervals.

WHAT CAN YOU DO YOURSELF?

Refrain from alcohol during a treatment phase and avoid caffeinated beverages such as coffee or tea if possible. Drink plenty - at least 2 liters daily - of light (low-mineral) water (e.g. “Plose” or “Lauretana”) during a treatment phase with QuantumResponse® technology. Ideally, the water should be slightly warmed. Maintain this behavior for a few days after a treatment, as the water helps your body to remove dissolved metabolic products.

FOR WHOM IS THE TREATMENT SUITABLE?

The use of QuantumResponse® technology is suitable for any biological system. Only energetic signals are used, so that the method is absolutely painless and harmless even for infants, children, pregnant women, elderly and weakened people. It can be used as an accompanying energetic measure to conventional medical therapies, as well as in veterinary medicine, but also in personality training, wellness or in building biology.

ARE THERE ANY SIDE EFFECTS?

The treatment itself is absolutely painless and has no side effects.

Usually, the treatment gives the body a strong “charge” with different energy vibrations. These can continue for several days after the treatment. As a result, so-called initial worsening can occur, i.e. you seem to feel worse for a short time than before the treatment. However, this is actually a “cleaning up or repair action” of the body, so this reaction is to be considered positive. As a rule, these phenomena pass very quickly.

This practice offers sessions using Quantum Response® technology.
